Internship Opportunity for elective credit SP25

This opportunity is for elective internship credit for 1, 2 or 3 credits for SP25. Credits can be in Liberal Arts 487, SPCM 387 (for Communication Studies Majors) or within your own major. Options exist for non-credit opportunities as well.

Internship Title: CSU's Multifaith & Belief Initiatives Internship

Internship Overview: Student interns will engage with those with diverse spiritual, religious and secular (non-religious) belief identities by educating, programming, celebrating and promoting constructive engagement across belief differences. Interns will assist with CSU partners such as The Multifaith & Belief Student Council, Student Affairs, the Office for Inclusive Excellence, ASCSU and The Center for Public Deliberation, etc., as well as off-campus partners such as local faith communities, the Fort Collins Interfaith Council, and community nonprofits with similar goals.

internship Duties:

- Expand current outreach initiatives - social media, monthly newsletter
- Event logistics and coverage - events happen from 5:30-8pm on Thursday evenings. Variety of logistical assistance including photography and write-up.
- Student spotlights - interviewing event attendees showcasing them on outreach platforms.
- Promoting on and off-campus belief-identity groups' events on campus (Ramadan, India Nite, Chai to Understand, Pagan Pride, Jewish Holocaust Awareness events, etc.)
- Expand, improve, maintain website: <https://multifaithandbelief.colostate.edu/>

Our Current Interns

"If you want to open your eyes to different beliefs and practices and see the great community that this initiative has helped develop, this is for you!"

Josh Harvey, Journalism and Media
Communications with a minor in Sociology

"This internship allowed me to connect with a wide range of people and opportunities within the multi-faith community and get a sense of where I can go to best help them in a time where we need to have these conversations the most."

Bennett Silverstein, Sociology
